Surveys Taken Among Greek Organizations

An opinion survey of whether or not competitive aspects of campus activities are too numerous was conducted among all Greek social organizations Monday by the college administration.

The survey, resulting from complaints of Greek organization members over the multiplicity of competitive events in which participation was expected by all Greek organizations, requested the groups to indicate by a yes or no vote whether or not some of the competitive aspects should be continued. Approximately 1500 ballots were distributed.

The list of campus events which are conducted competitively included such items as:

Float decorations for Homecoming parade, competitive rooting sections at the novice boxing tournament, All-Greek show, Spring Sing, March Melodies, Pushcart Relays, a list of queen contests, sponsored by fraternities, involving a series of elimination events.

Student Gets West Point Appointment

Bob Baker, sophomore aeronautics major, has received an appointment to the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, N.Y. from Senator Herman Welker of Idaho, he announced yesterday.

Baker will begin classes at the academy July 7. He plans to follow a military career.

He took the entrance examination to West Point in March at San Francisco, having previously passed the competitive examination for Sen. Welker's appointment.

"I have had the ambition to enter the military academy for some time, and it was finally realized this year," stated Baker.

AWS Banquet Reservation Deadline Here

Reservations for the AWS Recognition banquet must be made in the Dean of Women's office today before the 5 p.m. deadline, according to Carol Larson, AWS president.

An evening designed to honor and recognize the women on campus who have made this year's activities program successful will be the year's last AWS-sponsored event.

Recognition of the 100 most active women on campus, installation of the 1953-54 AWS officers, announcement of the new Black Masque members and introduction of the Spartan Spears have been scheduled for the banquet.

Mrs. Stanley Benz, wife of the dean of men, will be the guest speaker at the annual affair which will be held tomorrow at 6 p.m. in the Women's club at 75 S. 11th street.

Among the honored guests will be Mrs. John T. Wahlquist, Mrs. Izetta Pritchard and Dean Helen Dimmick. Also to be honored are WAA advisers, Dr. Elizabeth Prange and Mrs. Helen Cooper; advisers to Black Masque, Rocci Pizano and Miss Ardith Frost; and adviser to Spartan Spears, Mrs. Jan Pizano.

Twenty Seven Pushcarts Are Vying in Race

Twenty-seven carts of assorted sizes and makes are set to compete in Friday's gala Pushcart Relays, it was announced today. The entry list includes Alpha Tau Omega, last year's winner.

The route to be followed has not been changed, according to Don Pryor, event publicist. The carts and their costumed pushers will shove off at San Fernando and Ninth streets. They will proceed down Ninth street to San Antonio, then to Eighth street on San Antonio, and finally down Eighth street to the finish line at Eighth and San Carlos streets.

First, second, and third place trophies for speed and showing will be made at the judging stand immediately after the Relays are concluded. The trophy for the most original cart will be awarded that evening at the Relays Rump dance in the Women's gym, Pryor said. A combo will provide music.

Newman club, Student Y, and Spartan Oriocci are entered in the packed field, in addition to 24 sororities and fraternities. Each cart has six pushers, and a driver.

The Social Affairs committee will give a bean feed after the Relays are completed. Site is the Women's gym.

Prior to the Relays, at 1:30 p.m., there will be a luncheon for the Relay judges, Queen Pat Burrows, and her two attendants at the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity house.

Miss Burrows was crowned Crescent Queen last Saturday night at the fraternity's Spring Formal dance.

Printing Bids Considered by Council Today

Bids from firms for printing of the student orientation handbook for fall quarter will be considered at the Student Council meeting this afternoon.

Five printing firms have submitted bids.

The booklet replaces the Campus Compass booklet sent to incoming freshmen in previous years.

The meeting will be held in the Student Union starting at 3:30 o'clock, according to ASB president John Aitken.

Rally committee officers will be up for Student Council approval. Jerry Ball was selected by the committee as next year's chairman.

Sue Chapman and Dee Jukich will be installed by Bob Roberts, Student Court chief justice.

Freshman Camp committee will request that insurance be taken out to protect participants in the camp's activities.

Balance Due

Deadline for the payment of the $3 balance due on yearbooks is May 29, according to Jim Cottrell, publicity manager. This announcement is for those who have reserved La Torres with a $2 deposit, he explained.

Audience Acclaims College Symphony

By DOROTHY WILLIAMS

The college symphony orchestra closed its 1952-53 season last night with an impressive concert presented to a warmly-responsive capacity audience in Morris Dailey auditorium.

The orchestra, conducted by Dr. Lyle Downey, opened the concert with "Overture to 'Don Giovanni'" by Mozart. The piece was smoothly and competently done. It gave indication of the performances to follow.

Patrick Daugherty, tenor soloist, sang "Cha Gelida Manina" from "La Boheme." His presentation held the audience in silent interest and admiration for Daugherty's voice, confident delivery and musical ability.

Janice Carliandar was violin soloist for the orchestra's presentation of "Concerto for Violin and Orchestra" by Tchaikovsky. Miss Carliandar met the challenge of the stirring piece with both confidence and ability.

The concert was concluded with Anton Dvorak's "Carnaval, Op. 92."

The audience demonstrated its appreciation of the fine performances with repeated curtain calls for the soloists and Conductor Dr. Downey.

Professor Missing; Search on

An all-points bulletin has been issued by the San Jose police in an attempt to locate Carleton Smyth, assistant professor of journalism, who disappeared Saturday.

He last was seen Saturday night at a combination welcome home barbecue for Major Charles Kappen, returning assistant professor of journalism, and a farewell party for Smyth who is leaving the staff. The party was given by the division of Journalism and Police. President and Mrs. John T. Wahlquist and Dean and Mrs. Fred Harclerod were among the guests.

Smyth had his own car, and left the party alone about 9:30 p.m. He was reported missing by Dr. Dwight Bentel, chairman of the Journalism department, when he failed to appear for classes Monday.

As the Spartan Daily went to press, the police reported that efforts to locate Smyth had not as yet been successful, and that the search is being continued.

Levin Takes Lead In Ugly Man Vote

The box score in the Ugly Man contest shows that Bucky Levin, Kappa Kappa Gamma-Sigma Nu entry, has passed George Coakley, yesterday's leader. Coakley is sponsored by Delta Upsilon.

Others in the running are: Fred Postal, Tom Brown, Marv Scarper, Joseph Azzaoui, Al Bache, Chuck Abramson, Seymour Abrahams, and Byron Bollinger.

Voting in the Ugly Man contest will close at noon on Monday, according to Chuck Wing, Rally committee chairman.

Recipe for Fun

Take the Lambda Chi Alpha Pushcart Relays, as the basic ingredient. Add to it an all-college bean feed. Stir in the spice of an Ugly Man contest. Top it off with an open ASB dance.

The finished product: a first-class activities weekend for students, the type of weekend that ties a college student body together.

We have this activity-laden weekend because the Rally committee didn't sit back and rest on its laurels at the conclusion of football season. Thanks go to Chuck Wing and his hard working crew.

This whole weekend reminds us of a weekend of fun and frolic that used to engross the campus annually. That weekend now is deceased. May it rest in peace.

Death came to that previous weekend because a line wasn't drawn on the type and extent of student frolicking. Each successive year topped the previous one.

Each year the LCA Relays get "bigger and better" than the year before.

This whole weekend is a wonderful idea and will do a lot of good for the ASB and college.

Don't let over-enthusiasm defeat the purpose of these activities.

All-Day Frolic Offers Ping Pong, Swimming

An all-day activity schedule of volleyball, swimming, ping pong and dancing in the evening will be offered to the members of the freshman class and their guests this Saturday at the Freshman Frolic.

The site for the play-day will be Adobe Creek lodge and the admission price has been reduced to 90 cents, according to Bill Kennedy, freshman class president.

Lunches can either be purchased at the lodge or may be brought by the students attending the affair.

A car caravan will leave the Student Union at 11 a.m. and transportation will be available, Kennedy said. Guests and freshmen may join the party at Adobe Creek lodge anytime during the day and evening if they miss the caravan, he added.

Tickets for the frolic may be purchased during this week in the Outer Quad, according to Hank Ramp, newly-elected "Joe College."

"Betty Coed" title-winner Trish Meyers says that dress for the all-day outing should be casual and suitable for the activities and the dancing in the evening. Dressing rooms are available for those who wish to go in swimming.

Last night, the Freshman Class council accompanied by other members of the freshman class braved the rain and cold and went ahead with plans to visit the living groups. They introduced the winners of the "Joe College and Betty Coed" contest and extended a personal invitation to all freshmen to come to the frolic, said Kennedy.

Interviewers Seek Workers For Red Cross

Leslie W. Hobson, of the Red Cross personnel service staff, will be in the Placement office Tuesday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. to interview students interested in field jobs providing Red Cross services to the military at home and abroad.

The Placement office revealed that they will break a long-time precedent by allowing the American Red Cross to conduct job interviews during dead week.

Dr. Vernon A. Ouellette, Placement officer, said that in view of the fine record of the Red Cross, he felt that the exception should be made.

Jobs being offered and starting salaries include assistant field directors, women $325 per month; recreation workers, women, $244 per month; senior case aides, women, $258 per month; junior case aides, $230 per month; recreation aides, women, $230 per month; and assistant field director, men, $325 per month.

Further details pertaining to these jobs are available in the Placement office, Room 100.

On Friday, ISO members and their guests, as well as any other students who wish to go, will journey to Santa Cruz for an afternoon in the sun. Cars will leave from in front of the Student Union at 3 o'clock, and transportation will be furnished, Nownejad said. Students should bring their own food, he added.

If Tom Hall and Herb Vargas, hashers at the Chi Omega sorority house, seem to have taken on "high-born" airs, it's because the young women of the sorority conferred upon them the honor of Chi Omega Knighthood in appreciation of the fine work the men have performed for the chapter house. The initiation ceremonies took place at a barbecue at Oak Dell Park honoring the parents of the women. Dr. G. A. McCallum, one of the original Chi Omega Knights, officiated at the ceremonies. Annie Arnold, with the aid of the Winter pledge class, was in charge of refreshments for the day.

The Chi O's have been quite busy. Recently they were hostesses at a card party attended by representatives of the campus sororities pledge classes. Monday evening the seniors pulled their sneak and enjoyed a barbecue dinner at Alum Rock park. Last week the graduating seniors were honored by the alumnae association at an outdoor barbecue at the home of one of the alums. The girls were entertained by the Dullskulls—Barbara Hollar, Joan DiCristina, Norma Johnson, and Carol Frewaldt.

Party-Time

Theta Chis and their dates enjoyed an afternoon of swimming and a barbecue dinner at the home of Don McPherson in Santa Cruz recently. The Sunday of fun is an annual affair for the Theta Chis.

Sixty couples dined and danced to the music of Joe Daly and his orchestra at the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity annual Spring pledge dance at Brookdale Lodge. Tom Wilberding was social chairman for the affair.

Delta Gamma actives and their dates weren't daunted by the rain Sunday. They enjoyed a steak barbecue at the sorority house anyway!

The ATO's had their annual DAAM Day Sunday at Adobe Creek Lodge. The picnic is in honor of the men's dads, alums, actives, and mothers. Steak dinner topped the menu.

Honored Guests

Members of Alpha Omicron Pi entertained Dr. and Mrs. James C. DeVoss with a dinner at the sorority house Wednesday evening.

Sneaks

Jim Rice found himself in Reno after the ATO pledges, Rick Sherman, Frank Harvey, Stan Callon, Vern Boyer, and Bob Shehtarian pulled their sneak Monday evening. All returned safe and sound Tuesday.

The Gamma Phis were without dinner recently when the seniors took their annual sneak and the food and had a picnic at Stevens Creek.

Friday evening the members and their dates attended the second annual Spring formal at the Italian room of the St. Francis hotel. A pre-dance party was held at the home of Gene Standfield in San Francisco. During the evening fraternity brothers and guests serenaded Nelson Bell and Gil Shaper on their birthday anniversaries.

Kemp Chosen As New PiKA Prexy

Don Kemp was elected president of Pi Kappa Alpha Monday evening.

He will be assisted by Joe Jimenez, vice president; Mal Leal, treasurer; and Bob Cracolice and Dave Redmond, co-historians.

Only Accent!

There is a curious, rather repulsive odor about the campus this week.

The odor is emitting from the clothes, skin and hair of Physical Science 20C students who are visiting the Accent plant in San Jose. The processing of mono sodium glutamate (Accent, in layman terms) from sugar cane molasses is a procedure which necessarily—shall we say—is rather odorous.

Visitors of the factory will undoubtedly retain close personal memories of the visit long after their sample packages of Accent are gone.

Students, Children And Parents Profit From Day Nursery

By NANCY LAMB

The smallest students at San Jose State college are only about three feet tall!

This is perfectly normal, however, because these students range in age from two to four years old. They attend the nursery school headed by Miss Joyce Bolton, instructor in home economics. The school serves as a training course for kindergarten and general primary and home economics.

Everything in the nursery, both inside and out, is in miniature, or as Miss Bolton reported, "at the child's own level." Students in charge try not to direct the children because the most important thing for the youngsters, to learn is to get along with each other.

The 20 students who assist Miss Bolton receive training not only in learning to be at ease with the children but in dietetics by planning the meals. Each student is assigned a child to study and visits that child's home. A report prepared by the student on the child is read by the mother. The nursery is used for observation by other departments such as Art, Psychology and Speech.

Miss Bolton reported that each year parents are playing a bigger part in the nursery, which was begun in 1920. Musically talented parents often entertain the children. Parents also hold informal conferences with the faculty to discuss the child's progress.

'Mademoiselle' Guest Editor Prepares To Fly to New York

By RITA PATTERSON

"It's the biggest thrill in my life, and I still can't believe it's happening to me."

Neva Nelson's blue eyes twinkled excitedly as she spoke those words, and the thrill of a lifetime was mirrored on her face. For the 20-year-old sophomore English major is about to embark on an opportunity sought by more than 700 girls throughout the United States and granted to only 20.

The cause of all the excitement—Neva's appointment to a month's guest editorship with "Mademoiselle" magazine in New York, which offers her a chance to meet some of the most famous personalities in the fashion world. And, above all, a unique opportunity to preview her future by working in her field for one of the nation's foremost employers of "young women with promise," is offered.

Neva's eastward journey begins Saturday, when she leaves by plane for New York. "I've never flown before," Neva confessed, "and I've never been out of California, either."

She and most of the girls will stay at the Barbizon, a hotel for career women. "Mademoiselle" pays all expenses for transportation, rent, meals, and tips, as well as salary for the month's work.

Her month will consist of five-day weeks, the first two devoted almost entirely to editing the magazine's August issue. Sandwiched in with the day's work will be fashion shows, luncheons, receptions, and other spins in the social whirl. "And they provide the dates for all social activities," Neva exclaimed.

First week on the job will feature personal interviews with Betsy Blackwell, editor, and one of three famous New Yorkers whom the girls select. Neva has asked to meet either E. W. White of the New Yorker, Toby of the international fashion news service, or modelman John Robert Powers. Her interview with one of these three will appear in the August edition.

Her main problem in preparing for the trip has been that of readying her wardrobe. "The airplane limit is 40 pounds per person, and that has to include my whole wardrobe for a month in New York," she sighed. "We were told to expect any sort of weather, so I have to be prepared for anything."

To accomplish this feat, she has collected a working wardrobe that would do justice to the most fashionable New Yorker.

In her suitcase will be two dark cotton dresses that are cool and resist the New York grime. She is also taking a navy wool gabardine suit, and cocoa and strawberry linen suits. These will be dressed up with two white and one coral pink blouse. A navy and green plaid taffeta dinner dress, an ice blue satin formal, wool skirt and accompanying cashmere sweater, and black, red, and navy accessories complete her wonder-wardrobe.

"Of course I hope to buy a few things there," she added with a feminine gleam in her eye.

Odd Mystery Big Fish Story

The other night several students making their way home from the Library were startled to see several dark figures moving in tight circles in the middle of the campus lawn.

Thoughts of sabotage or a mass break-out of Agnew flashed through the students' minds as they observed the figures circling, giving out with a short cry, then throwing themselves bodily to the ground.

One of the students bravely volunteered to approach the flash light welding figures to ask what was up?

He returned to his puzzled friends to tell them that the figures were only fishermen preparing for a trout fishing trip the next morning. They had decided the campus was a likely spot to search for, of all things, worms.

Preface to a Term Paper, or,
Please Pass the No-Doz

These are the days that try men's souls. The deadline is growing near—the day when all class projects, notebooks and term papers are supposed to be neatly typed up, stapled, and placed carefully on the desks of professors all over the campus.

Usually assignments are given in plenty of time, so that students can spend many hours in the library, and the evolution of the paper is made smoothly and without tension. But we all know that that theory is as theoretical as you can get. There always seems to be something more important to do, and when the last minute comes, it is revolution, and not evolution, that produces term papers.

The quarter proceeds rapidly, until suddenly, it's Friday, and the paper is due Monday. You ransack the Reader's Guide and the card catalogue with furious activity during the few remaining hours of library time.

Somehow you struggle through the writing of it, and find yourself early, very early, Monday morning, sitting back with a sigh of relief, the last page done. At this time, don't you sometimes feel like giving vent to all of your mixed emotions by writing a preface to your term paper? It would be something like this:

It was with much painstaking research,* sacrifice, and heartburn, that this term paper was compiled and written. At times, when the going was rough, the author wondered if this valuable work would ever reach the eyes of humanity.

There was a time when the writer, only by fast talking, escaped being thrown out of the library for excessive noise resulting from the cracking of knuckles and biting of fingernails.

Then there was the instance when a 12-pound volume of "The Nesting Habits of the Australian Chipmunk" became dislodged from an upper shelf and fell upon her head. She lay unconscious, lost on the fifth level of the stacks, for three hours before a lonesome philosophy major searching for an anthology of Freud's works found her and reported the incident.

The worst crisis, however, came at about 3 a.m. Monday morning. The author was typing furiously, lost in an asphyxia of inspiration, when she discovered that the typewriter ribbon had broken three pages back. The remainder of the paper, from page 52-A on, was laboriously written by hand, in the manner of the ancient Greeks and medieval monks.

Among the author's other well-known works, are a 150-word essay on the subject, "Why I Like to Collect Butterflies," a 3000-word term paper on, "Shakespeare as a Polo Player," and a letter to Dr. Shmoehopper explaining why she missed his class in advanced basket-weaving.

She is well-qualified to write this paper, "A Study of Life in Lower Slobovia," having traveled extensively in Los Angeles and Santa Clara counties.

'Gaslight' Opens Friday; Features Drama, Olios

The Speech and Drama department will be presenting one of its longest productions, when "Under the Gaslight" opens a seven-day run Friday night in the Little Theater.

The old-fashioned melodrama, complete with olios, is scheduled to run approximately three hours. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m.

Once a dramatic actor's vehicle, "Under the Gaslight" is a hilarious comedy to modern audiences.

John Kerr, associate professor of drama, has supplemented the trials and tribulations of his cast of heroes, heroines and villains with singing and dancing.

The olios will feature such hit parade tunes of the late nineteenth century as "Listen to the Mockingbird," "Curse of an Aching Heart," "Father Dear Father," and "All That Glitters Is Not Gold."

Faculty members and students will execute the song and dance routines.

"Oh That We Two Were May-ing" will be sung by Maurine Thompson, associate professor of music, and J. Wendell Johnson, associate professor of drama.

Johnson designed the elaborate settings. Eighteenth century costumes were created by Berneice Prisk, associate professor of drama.

Ronald Blood will play the hero, Ray Trafford, and Donna Weger will play the heroine, Laura Courtland.

Carolyn King, Mary Campbell, Ruth Daugherty, Carolyn Miller, Cleo Cebulla and Constance McLean, Ramona Puccinelli, Delores Heib, Barbara Almeida, Barbara Remelmeyer, Joan Reither, Eleanore Floor, Jerri Welch, and Leslie Groat.

The play will run May 29-30, June 1-2 and 4-6 in the Little Theater. Admission is 50 cents

Debaters Get Pins Sunday At Barbecue

Forensic squad pins will be awarded to members of the group Sunday afternoon at the squad's annual barbecue at the home of Dr. Lawrence Mouat, adviser.

Entertainment for the afternoon will include a debate on the superiority of women. Battling out the question of the sexes will be Harold Garcia and Bill Tyler, defending the male point of view, and Mary Campbell and Mary Ann Giffre, taking the female side.

Dr. Dorothy Kaucher, professor of speech, and Dr. Hugh Gillis, head of the Speech and Drama department, will be guests.

On June 3 Joyce Reynolds and Marty Smith will debate with Harry Heffner and Art Butler in an exhibition match at 8 p.m. in Room 84 of the Campbell high school music building.

They will discuss the problem of "Earning a Living versus Learning to Live." Bill Tyler will serve as chairman and the winner will be decided by a popular opinion ballot.

Heffner and Butler were winners of the squad's novice debate tournament. The men will take the affirmative side with the women defending the negative side.

Design Contest

Noon Friday is the deadline for entering the Speech and Drama department's annual stage design contest, according to J. Wendell Johnson, associate professor of drama.

Drawings must be turned into the Speech and Drama department office, Room 57.

Instruction blanks are available in the department office.

Third Storytelling Hour Held Today

Miss Bond received the award for her "outstanding work in the public school art class taught by John Devincenzi and for her qualities as a prospective teacher," according to the Department.

The award, given anonymously, is named in honor of Mrs. Nadine Hammond, chairman of the public school art course.

Quiet Critters? No, Not Fish, They're Noisy

Fish aren't silent critters. They make noise.

Human beings have learned that only recently, and now scientists are trying to find out why they make noises.

A shining example of the noisy ones is the playful porpoise. Not only does he click and clack when he swims but he whistles as well.

Scientists strongly suspect the purpose of carrying on like this simply so he can locate himself in relation to surrounding objects. A mere pretense, as if one had to whistle to find out where to go. No doubt porpoises just want attention.

However, scientists seriously believe the porpoise has a purpose in making these noises. Florida State University Tallahassee, has been conducting extensive experiments on the porpoise and his noise-making.

The bottle-nose dolphin, or porpoise, possesses what may be described as a "sonar system," the experimenters say. The men worked with wild porpoises in the Gulf of Mexico and captive porpoises in zoos.

The scientists eavesdropped on the porpoise by using an underwater microphone and then recorded the sounds. They discovered that the two most common noises made by the porpoises were a bird-like whistle about half a second long and a series of rapid "clicks" like the pecking of a woodpecker.

The only way the experimenters can be sure the porpoises make noise in order to locate themselves to the bounce-back of the echo, is to run tests with blind animals. If they swim without bumping into things it is likely they whistle and click for a purpose, and are not merely gossiping. S.G.

Curfew Hours on Colorado Campus Cause Troubles

Curfew hours at the University of Colorado caused some trouble last month. A 21-year-old male student was jailed after he had been found by the police in an upstairs closet of a University hill girl's boarding house.

He had sought refuge there after he was seen helping his late date up the fire escape. Another girl in another dorm was caught after she had called a friend to have her leave a window open for her.

No action has yet been taken against any of the students, according to the Colorado Daily.

New York university's marble team recently was chosen tops in the nation by a poll of sports-writers. Elated at the honor bestowed upon them, the coach expressed hope that his men would prove themselves worthy of the honor.

The team's captain Fat Thumb Fishy, recently shot his jumbo 92 feet, 3.16 inches, a feat practically unheard of in marble circles.

Three thousand copies of the Jacko, student humor magazine at Dartmouth, were stolen, and the thieves left clues—in riddles—all over the campus telling where to find the magazines. The campus police captain said that "the person or persons responsible for placing a clue under the college president's blotter won't be in college long if caught."

Comment in the North Texas State daily on the current spring pranks in American colleges: "Whatever the excuse, the riots do more damage to higher education in two hours than research, scholarship, and good public relations in build up in 10 years."

Battle for Privacy

Male students at Swarthmore college, Pa., once had the privilege of entertaining female students in their dormitory rooms. This privilege has recently been withdrawn, and the whole affair is causing a lot of trouble.

They are Dorothy and Nina Warren whose legal residence is 1526 H street, Sacramento, sometimes called the Executive Mansion.

occupation is Governor.

He and his wife didn't believe in "slapping or hitting" their children.

Yet these beautiful and charming daughters leave no intimation of their illustrious parentage. They are apparently uncorrupted by the fame that has attended them.

Both are products of Southern California living, and personify some of the advertisements relating thereto. They are fair complexioned and lithe. "Dotty" is 23 and stands five-feet-six, while "Honeybear" is two inches shorter and two years younger.

Scribe Reviews Baseball Season PART I

By RON WAGENBACH

The San Jose Red Sox will have Municipal stadium to themselves. Coach Walt Williams' squad has deserted Spartan field and the longest baseball season in the history of San Jose State has come to an end.

The 1953 season has seen many obstacles and troubles, but it has produced its share of glory and entries for the record book. High among these feats are the no-hitter by Ron Kauffman, the eight wins of hurler Johnny Oldham, the hitting splurge of Dick Brady and the steady fielding of Cookie Camara, to mention a few.

The team responded to Williams' call early in January, and practice continued until the first contest with the Palo Alto Oaks Feb. 28. The sessions were blessed with extremely good weather which continued throughout the season. Not one game was rained out during the entire schedule.

After the Spartans tied the Oaks, 2-2, they dropped two quick games to the Stanford Indians. The Palo Alto delegation went on to capture the Southern division of the CIBA. Doug Boehner led the Raiders to their first win as he humbled California, 5-4, in Berkeley.

State met its cross-town rival, Santa Clara, next and went down, 9-3. Then came the Southland tour in which the Spartans lost to Cal Poly, San Diego State and Marine Recruit depot. State more than made up for this by defeating USC, UCLA and San Diego Amphibious training command.

The Raiders returned to Municipal stadium March 24 to bow to the pro-laden Fort Ord Warriors.

The next day Coach Williams' men played host to the CIBA champions, Oregon State. The locals led until the ninth frame when the Beavers pushed across three runs.

San Jose State hit the win trail again as they defeated College of Pacific in a doubleheader. Oldham and Dick Penrose were credited with the two wins. Then came the Fresno trip and the strong Bulldogs swept the two-game series, 5-0 and 5-2. The first contest was played before 700 fans.

The Spartans began their independent play April 4 by downing USF, 10-3. Then followed two wins over Alameda Naval Air station and a double loss to San Francisco State. State posted another win over USF, 5-1, before College of Pacific reversed the earlier two losses and handed Williams' squad a double setback, 10-9 and 5-4.

State Enters Judo Tourney

The Pacific Coast judo tournament will be the next stop for the San Jose State judoists who will be prepared to add more laurels to their already impressive season's record.

The meet, scheduled to begin Friday, will be held in Los Angeles. The Los Angeles Invitational is primarily competition between Southern and Northern California judo teams.

Squads or "Dojos" as they are commonly referred to, will be entered from Stockton, San Francisco, Travis Air Force base and San Jose. The two competitors from this city are State, and the San Jose Buddhists.

Stanley Invited

Lang Stanley, who has clocked a 1:52.6 half-mile this season, has been invited to participate in the Compton Invitational meet June 5. He will be up against the world's greatest middle-distance man, Mal Whitfield, the NCAA, AAU and two-time Olympic 880 meters champ who shares the world record of 1:49.2.

BILL PRIDDY All-American pole vaulter of 1952 and Spartan co-captain, hit the magical 14-ft. mark recently at the Modesto Relays. He has been a consistent point-maker and aided the Spartans in getting second in the NCAA meet last season.

Football Meeting

Bob Bronzan states that there will be a football meeting in the Women's gym at 7 o'clock tonight.

Clunie, Carver Given Chances

Dark-horses Kent Clunie and Keith Carver stand chances of advancing further in the Butch Krikorian All-College Tennis championships as they both meet members of this year's varsity tennis squad in their next matches.

Carver goes against Jack Capon. The winner of the match will meet Butch Krikorian in a semi-final match. It will be the first match of the tourney for Krikorian. Each year the tourney is named after a graduating senior on the tennis team.

Clunie meets Don Straub in another semi-finals match. Clunie has the only two-handed forehand shot in the tourney.

Jim Austin and Clunie downed Bob Bell and Harry Bruhn (both from the frosh tennis team) Sunday in a hard-fought doubles match, 6-4, 6-2.

Standout Races Run by Spartans

By DON BLOOM

Coach Bud Winter's Spartan spikesters posted some of the top collegiate times and heights in the United States this past track season.

Three athletes, Lang Stanley, Walt Burnett and Bill Priddy rank with the nation's elite in their respective events. Stanley's 1:52.6 two-lap timing is fourth, Burnett's 21.2 furlong and 48.4 quarter-mile are listed eighth and Priddy's 14-foot vault at the Modesto Relays makes him one of a half-dozen "amateur" pole-pushers to accomplish this feat this year.

Stanley and Burnett will represent the Spartans in the NCAA meet in Nebraska in June. Priddy tied for first last year, but is ineligible to compete in the '53 championships.

Burnett and Don Cruikshank both clocked 9.8's in the century this season. Cruikshank also dashed to a 21.4 220-yard dash timing.

Two other half-milers, Bill Stephens and Allen Dunn, turned in creditable times for this race. Both runners were timed in 1:57.0 on numerous occasions. Dunn also ran a 4:21.5 mile at the Modesto Relays.

Paul Bowen turned in the top Spartan two-mile race with a 9:47.5 clocking. Gene Denny leaped 6 ft. 4 in. in two meets to lead the high jumping platoon. Jon Braun and Jamie Fletcher posted 6 foot marks.

Herman Stokes was the best long-jumper who reached the 23 foot mark. Denny hit 21 ft. 6 in.

Dick Stultz and John Slaughter set marks of 49 ft. 3 in., and 47 ft. 6 in., respectively, in the shot put ring. Ed Bill came through with a 148 ft. 2 in. discus throw, and Joe Muldowney hit 143 ft. 4 in. Alan Hugo clocked 15.4 and 25.2 hurdle times and Paul Vuosalo (188 ft. 10 in.) and Stan Dowell (175 ft. 2 in.) were the stand-out javelinists. The mile relay team clocked a 3:20.1.

State Senior Wins Graduate School Award

Mary Louise Carli, senior teaching major, has won a $750 Claremont Graduate School scholarship. It was announced recently.

The scholarship will permit Miss Carli to take a year of training as a future high school teacher. It is the second scholarship she has won. Graduating from Lincoln high school in 1949, Miss Carli won a Walter Bachrodt Memorial scholarship award.

While attending SJS she attended the leadership course at Camp Miniwanca Mich., representing the college student body of 1950. She is presently a member of the Senior class council, and will be graduated in June.

A native of San Jose, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Carli, 976 Chestnut street.

Librarian Society

The 40 members of the Bibliophiles local librarianship society, will be inaugurated into Alpha Beta Phi, national librarianship fraternity, according to Miss Dora Smith, head of the department.
